

PHALLAS R.C.C.

Background:

Natives of the planet Shi-Hol, the phallas race is considered the most widely traveled race in the megaverse. Its ironic that with all the horror and evil they have experienced, that the average Phallas (4 feet tall) has a very 'friendly' disposition. They gained the race term based upon their appearance, 4 foot tall humanoid being that resembles a male sex organ. While the peach colored tribe is the average phallas population, the dark skinned tribe tends to be twice as tall, and the yellow tribe is twice as short. The phallas race is highly intelligent and technologically advanced (90% literate). They are accomplished space travelers who use the most interesting materials to build their star craft. Phallas' follow a strict code of valor that empowers them to explore the universe and write injustices.
